To whom it may concern:

Ukrainian Distance Learning System (UDL) - a consortium of Universities and business schools, which has been a part of the Global University System (GUS) for 13 years, - fully supports the new initiative “Global Early Warning System” (GEWS) proposed by the Global System Analysis and Simulation Association in the USA. In our opinion, it is going to be a valuable input in establishment of collaboration between experts and decision-makers from different countries seeking after crisis prevention and looking for the ways to adapt to new political and economic conditions. The use of innovative approach to cross-learning and collaboration – gaming/simulation promotes active involvement of all parties (stakeholders) and stimulates a constructive dialogue between them, with better understanding and appreciation of their diversity.

For us, at the UDL System, it would be a great honour to take part and to support the events which are planned to be organized within the perspective GEWS Project.

Faithfully yours,
